Voorlopig Legaal in Nederland? - Hoe Bwin betekent het voor mij

Titel: Heb je ook Bwin in Nederland als legale gokstijl gehadt?

Helaas, ik heb me al binnen vijf jaar met de situatie van Bwin verdacht. Ik ben een vriend van Bwin en had over het hoofd me een aantal keer op bezoek. Zowel bij Jacks.nl als bij LeoVegas, kwam er echt naar me te kijken. Als ik in 2024 aan Bwin ingegaan heb, heb ik wel de vergunning van Kansspelautoriteit gezien. Dit leidde tot een verrassend gevoel van trots en betrouwbaarheid. Het spookte al langer maar als in 2024 de kansspelmarkt open werd in Nederland, kwam het Bwin weer op de slagwanden. Het kwam me niet leuk om te weten dat er geen legale gokstijl voor spelers in Nederland was.

Het verstaan van de kansspelautoriteit over Bwin

De Kansspelautoriteit hebt Bwin als een betrouwbaar bedrijf opgegeven, wat ik nog steeds waar vond. Tijdens de opening van de gokmarkt in Nederland kon ik met geen verwijzingen aan Bwin wanneer ik online goktegende overleg had.

Legaal goksites in Nederland - Waar is er maar?

Vanaf 1 oktober 2024
Written by: Shari Gundayan, Ph.D., RDN, CSPP; Leslie A. Schilling, Psy.D.; and Emily Sauer, BS, LCPC, CFPC Abstract: In a randomized controlled trial (RCT), women with type 2 diabetes who received lifestyle coaching achieved greater weight loss than those receiving usual care at three months after the end of the intervention. Women in both groups showed significant improvements on various measures of health-related quality of life, including depression and anxiety scores. This study was conducted to examine whether a 12-week intensive lifestyle coaching program led by Registered Dietitian Nutritionists (RDNs) could produce weight loss in women with type 2 diabetes who have been diagnosed for at least one year. The aim of the study was also to assess changes in depression and anxiety scores. Forty-five participants, ages 36 - 80 years, were randomly assigned to a control group (n = 19) or an intervention group (n = 26). The two groups did not differ significantly at baseline on demographic variables, weight, height, and body mass index (BMI). Participants in the control group received educational materials about diabetes management that were sent to them by mail. Participants in the intervention group met with an RDN for 12 weekly sessions of behavior modification coaching based on motivational interviewing techniques, goal setting, and action planning. The participants also completed a homework assignment each week involving tracking food intake using MyPlate guidelines, physical activity, glucometers readings, and blood pressure measurements. The results showed that women in the intervention group lost more weight (3.9 pounds) compared to women in the control group (0.7 pounds). The mean reduction of body mass index at 12 weeks for the intervention was -0.8 kg/m² vs. 0.4 kg/m² among those in the control group. The researchers also found that both groups improved their health-related quality of life scores over time, but women who received lifestyle coaching showed greater improvement on measures of depression and anxiety at three months after completion of the intervention compared to the usual care group. The authors concluded: "Our findings suggest that RDNs can help improve outcomes for patients with type 2 diabetes through intensive, individualized lifestyle coaching." This study highlights the importance of using evidence-based approaches in clinical practice and shows how collaboration between healthcare providers (including Registered Dietitian Nutritionists) can lead to better patient outcomes. It also emphasizes that behavioral interventions targeting lifestyle changes are critical components of managing chronic diseases like type 2 diabetes, which have a significant impact on overall health and quality of life. Key takeaways for dietitians and other healthcare providers:

The following are some key points to consider when working with patients who have type 2 diabetes:

Lifestyle interventions that involve behavior modification coaching can help improve weight loss, glucose control, blood pressure, lipid profiles, and quality of life in patients with type 2 diabetes.

Collaborative care models involving Registered Dietitian Nutritionists (RDNs) have been shown to produce better patient outcomes. RDNs can play a critical role by providing individualized nutritional counseling, motivational interviewing techniques, goal setting, and action planning in conjunction with medical management for patients with type 2 diabetes. Regular monitoring of lifestyle changes using tools such as food intake logs, physical activity trackers, glucometer readings, and blood pressure measurements is essential to provide feedback and encourage patient adherence to behavioral goals. Patient education materials should be provided but may not suffice in the absence of individualized coaching that takes into account personal motivations, barriers, and preferences for dietary changes and physical activity modifications.
